

Welty Building Company LTD Expands Its Reach with inSITE Advisory Group

Jennifer Syx joins Welty to Spearhead Economic Development Affiliate

May 12, 2014 – Fairlawn, OH - Welty Building Company Ltd., proven partners in comprehensive building services and management, has announced the formation of inSITE Advisory Group, a consulting services affiliate dedicated to assisting clients with a multi-faceted approach to economic development, to benefit both private and public sectors. This partnership will further complement its Cleveland, Columbus, and Akron offices offering construction services for healthcare, higher education, not-for-profits, public entities and corporate offices.

In her role as Group President, Jennifer Syx will lead the development of strategic business relationships with cities, townships and villages to help them grow their tax base, create new jobs and assist in obtaining financing for new development projects. She also serves as an advisor to corporate clients, developers and engineers by identifying and obtaining government incentives to help businesses expand within their community and elsewhere.

As the former Deputy Development Director for the City of Cuyahoga Falls, Jennifer brings more than 20 years' experience in the public, private and non-profit sector. Jennifer has a wealth of knowledge in navigating local government programs as well as accessing state and federal funds to support public-private partnerships. Jennifer's past projects include successful grants to conduct environmental assessments, remediation and redevelopment of brownfield properties, as well as tax incentive initiatives, new program development and downtown redevelopment activities.

"We identified economic development as an underserved area of need in Ohio and wanted to capitalize on this opportunity," said Don Taylor, President and CEO of Welty Building Company. "Jennifer's experience and results-oriented approach will play a pivotal role in extending our track record of innovation, while providing a valuable resource to our current and future clients."

"Welty's comprehensive strategy for superior building construction is unparalleled and I'm excited to be part of the team." said Syx. "This extraordinary partnership positions us at the forefront of new development, which in turn gives us the ability to deliver substantial cost-saving solutions to our clients."
